3. In this regard, Learning Resource Evaluators (LREs) are requested to ensure that publishers have fully incorporated all evaluation findings into the revised materials. LREs are further reminded to strictly observe another set of 5-day review periods for the finalized TXs and TMs.

4. Among the causes of delays in the printing of TXs and TMs have been attributed to extended review timelines which often result in the extension of contract implementation. To address this, LREs are reminded that no major revisions or additional changes beyond the previously provided comments should be made during the 5-day review period of the revised materials.
